MILLIONS of television viewers will be shown the day-to-day workings of a Harlow secondary school when it fea-tures in a groundbreaking documentary

starting tonight (Thursday)
Pupils and teachers from the former Passmores School in Tendring Road are the stars of Channel 4's fly-on-the-wall reality series Educating Essex.

More than 60 cameras were positioned around the school to capture every aspect of life in a modern comprehensive.

Billed as a raw insight into the challenges faced by a school, the series tackles issues dealt with by today's staff and pupils as it fol-lows a group of GCSE students during the most important year of their education. Head teacher Vic Goddard, pictured below, told the Star: "Many thought we were mad to allow cameras into the school but I feel passionately that parents and the public at large – many of whom haven't set foot in a school for decades - should see what really goes on and how much schooling has changed.

"At Passmores we aim to inspire every child to achieve the best that they can. I think the series reflects that – as well as the inevitable challenges of teaching 900 energetic youngsters!

The school, which reopened this term as an Academy in a new multimillion pound complex in Tracyes Road – was equipped with 65 fixed cameras and 70 microphones to record every detail of school life - from the corridors and the canteen to the headteacher's office and detention hall. 'We were given incredible access by Passmores School and it was a privilege to film school life as it really is," said series director David Clews. "The fixed rig produced revelatory moments and allows us to get really close to the action with minimal disruption to the daily lives of pupils and teachers."

Channel 4 documentaries commissioning editor Mark Raphal added: "Everyone – whether parents, kids, teachers or politicians – has an opinion about what's right and wrong with our education system.

"Educating Essex gives an amazing insight into the pressures on today's pupils, the challenges of teaching and how dynamics between the two have drastically changed."

● Educating Essex airs tonight on Channel 4 at 9pm and continues every Thursday for the next four weeks.

Why I allowed television cameras into my school

By VIC GODDARD

Headteacher, Passmores Academy

TELLING someone you have just met at a dinner party that you are a headteacher is the beginning of a long conversation about what teachers were like in their day and what schools are like now; almost without exception focussing on the negatives and how appalling young people aré today.

Taking part in the series was a chance to give a true insight into a normal school in the 21st century.

Passmores is a comprehensive school that strives every day to serve the community of Harlow. We don't hand pick which students come through the door but do everything in our power to ensure that no-one leaves without having the qualifications and experiences to become good

I'm very proud to say the school has just been awarded Academy status and is rated 'outstanding' by Ofsted. This year's GCSE results are the fifth year running we have beaten our local authority targets, with 84 per cent of students gaining five or more A*-C grades and 50 per cent A*-C grades including English and

The question that I have been asked more than any others by other headteachers is why did we say yes to having 60-plus cameras installed all over the school. The easiest answer is that we are proud of the work we do with both the 98 cent of perfectly behaved young people and the two per cent that find it more difficult to exist within the rules of our school and often wider society.

We love serving the community of Harlow and that includes all the highs and lows of dealing with 900+ 11-16-year-olds.

Of course we take our responsibilities to our students very seriously and we have been very careful to ensure that pupils, staff and parents were kept informed at all stages about the filming and their consent to feature in the series was sought. We've also been given the chance to see the finished programmes to check they are accurate and fair. I'm pleased to say I'm very happy with the results

I am sure some people will watch the series and view the approach that we take as being too liberal and criticise us. There will be people in the media and public alike that will be shouting at the TV screen 'just kick them out'. As far as we are concerned that is the easy way out; if we just permanently excluded students when the going got tough, who is going to help redirect these young people to avoid them becoming the under belly of our society in the future?

Being a headteacher is about moral purpose and ensuring that I can look myself in the eye in the morning when I do up my tie knowing that we have done all we can to ensure that every student has a future that can contribute to

I hope people remember that while the senior leadership team and the mentors around the school are dealing with a difficult situation, the rest of the school are in lessons being taught by professionals who are determined to help students to be successful

One of the most remarkable parts of the filming was how quickly we forgot that the cameras were there. The journey home at the end of the day became a process of dissecting everything you did during the day and trying to imagine how that would look to everyone at home

I hope viewers will take away the opinion that Passmores is a school where passionate and caring professionals go above and beyond what they are paid for to care for the young people we are entrusted to look after. Parents want to know that someone is looking after their child and caring for them every minute of the day. I know that our school does that and I hope that is obvious

We have all heard the saying 'school days are the best of your life' but how many 16-year-olds actually believe that? I hope when viewers get to see the emotional goodbyes from our Year 11 students they will see just how much their school meant to them

A FUN day at Pets' Corner in Harlow Town Park on Sunday attracted more than 2,500 people.

A dog show, working bee hive, tractor and trailer rides, spinning and weaving demonstrations, a raffle and a bouncy castle were among the many attractions, while families could also tuck into a barbecue and browse bric-a-brac stalls.

The event was organised by the Friends of Pets' Corner and raised £1,300 towards the day-to-day costs of the council-run attraction, one of seven which the cash-strapped authority is seeking to offload in a bid to cut costs. Joel Charles, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for community and citizenship, said: "I attended the fun day on Sunday and it was clear to me how fantastic the day was for local families.

"My colleagues and I know Pets' Corner is a popular attraction and that's why we are doing everything we can to secure its future.

"I think the success of this day shows the high level of community support there is for Pets' Corner and this can only be a good thing as we look at ways the service can continue to run in the

More than 60 people gathered in the School Lane car park in Harlow Town Park on Sunday before setting off on one of three routes along the River Stort. Many were walking in memory of loved ones who suffered from Volunteer fundraiser Roy Harris said the charity had been pleased with the turnout. "Although we're yet to collect all the sponsorship money, we're confident the walk will have raised vital funds that will enable us to continue to offer help and support to the hundreds of dementia sufferers living in Harlow," he said.

"It was wonderful to see so many people take time out from their busy schedules to join us and dig deep to help our charity."

Café fined over ug infestation

By COURT REPORTER star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE manager of a Harlow café has been fined after environmental health officers discovered hundreds of cockroaches in his kitchen.

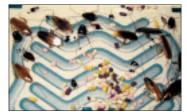

Tayfun Salih, operator of Little Piggy's Pantry at Pinnacles, pleaded guilty at Harlow Magistrates Couirt to two offences of food safety legislation after being prose-cuted by Harlow Council for cockroach infestation and lack of a food safety management.

He was fined £1,000 and ordered to pay £1,000 costs.

The court was told that environmental health officers visited the café on September 30 last year after receiving a complaint about the premises.

The visit uncovered an extensive cockroach infestation throughout the kitchen and storage rooms, with the insects and their

Car involved in crash that left two dead had deflated tyres

A POPULAR sportswoman was killed when a car with two flat tyres spun out of control and collided with her vehicle, an inquest heard this

The accident happened as Harlow Ladies Hockey Club goalkeeper Nicola Newland, of Rivermill, was travelling back from a game on October 17, 2009.

The crash also claimed the life of 30-year-old Robert Gallagher, from Hoddesdon.

The inquest was told that Mr Gallagher, the joint owner of the TR Racing garage in Pinnacles, was in the passenger's seat of a customer's Nissan Skyline R34 GTR, which was being test-driven by workmate Haralambos Pelentides.

The car was later found to have no air pressure in both rear "run flat" tyres.

i PC REPAIRS

Why I support the Dale Farm protest

SIR, I think I was the only Labour councillor referred to by Bryan Leach in his letter last week ("Show of support for lawlessness", September 15).

Yes I did go down to Dale Farm to show my solidarity with the people who are facing eviction after living in their homes for 10 years on what was once a former scrapyard.

It is a site on which Basildon Council dumped hardcore, the very same council that now wants to spend £10m on an eviction process that has already spoilt the very land it pretends to care for.

The local community is well established and half of it will remain even if the evictions go ahead. It also involves some 103 children who attend local schools. Is it right that these youngsters who know nothing else but this area will now be homeless?

With all the cuts going on I would have thought the authorities would have better things to spend money on. The police costs alone are a further £7m. At a time when the Tories are cutting police numbers this cannot be right.

So, yes, I plead guilty to showing a bit of humanity to fellow human beings. Let us put our prejudice aside when it involves so many children who have known nothing else but this as their home and a man in his 70s just about alive on a steady supply of oxygen.

Yes, I was the one who showed some sympathy in attending the site last week.

Councillor Dennis Palmer (Labour) Lower Meadow, Harlow

They want to turn us into a rural Tory shire

SIR, So Robert Halfon supports the attempts by the Government to turn Harlow from a marginal constituency to a rural Tory shire (Star, September 15). Now there's a surprise.

We will be lumped together with a whole host of villages and farms having no community of interest with local residents. But no matter as our local MP will be in office forever presiding over the steady demise of local accountability as the council privatises everything from Pets' Corner to The Playhouse.

The reasoning is that we have too many MPs, that some constituencies are larger than others, we want fair representation, we will save money and the Boundary Commission is independent.

Firstly, David Cameron wants to reduce the number of MPs which is why (presumably) he has increased the number of unelected and unelectable peers by 123 in a single year to gerrymander voting in the House of Lords. House of Lords reform, like banking reform, is on the backburner. The shires will still be represented by 90 unelected hereditary peers.

Secondly, the numbers racket implies that MPs interact constantly with large numbers of constituents and therefore the constituents need sharing out more evenly. Can we really believe that there is an equality of labour in Cameron answering invitations to the local hunt or masked ball and the MP for Bermondsey answering a desperate plea from a constituent over their inability to get social housing?

What is certain is we won't get fair representation, just a homogenised electorate of the type normally only available in Stalinist Russia with only one party. Those who look for conspiracies will notice the Tories are undertaking, through benefit changes, the greatest social cleansing operation since the Highland Clearances of the 18th century. Kensington, Battersea and Church Langley will not have a single prole left as the likely Labour voters are forced to move to cheaper places.

There may be a need to save money - the deficit reduction programme has been used repeatedly as a cover for ideological change as the country is "reformed" backwards. The amount is negligible in relation to one of the most important rights we have - democratic representation.

This government has spent its time in office sowing the seeds of social disorder and riot by its vindictive attacks on the disadvantaged and its preposterous envy of what the poor might still have. Do we want to reduce government accountability, even to save a few millions? Finally, there is the "independence" of the boundary commission. Does anyone know anybody who sits on this commission? Are the places advertised freely? Are we likely to find that it contains a great many of the great and good?

They are only independent under their mandate which was to reduce the number of MPs and redistribute the numbers of voters. Tory statisticians had already worked out that such a crude directive would lead to a major advantage for their party.

If the commission had been asked to have regard for historical and regional issues, there might have been a very different result!

> Nick Gunning Halling Hill, Harlow

Sign our petitions over bus changes

SIR, I am writing in reply to the letter last week about bus services in Netteswell and along Maddox Road in particular.

I have written letters on the subject, with the help of my ward councillor Mark Gough, to both Arriva and Olympian & SM Coaches on this subject.

The changes to the 6, 8 and 541 services are dreadful and are woefully inadequate for our area. I feel particularly sorry for the elderly who may have to wait for an hour in the cold and wet for the hourly 541 bus.

The reason for the letter to Olympian & SM was to see if they might consider rerouting their number 14 service down Maddox Road.

Cllr Gough has been very helpful in this matter and has copied my letters to our MP, county councillor Tracey Chapman who is portfolio holder for transport, and the leader and two portfolio holders on Harlow Council

Cllr Gough is also trying to set up an epetition on the Essex County Council website and is asking a question to the leader of Harlow Council at the next full council meeting to allow a petition to be made available for residents to sign in the Contact Harlow area of the Civic Centre.

I would ask all residents upset by these bus changes to look for these two petitions over the coming week and to sign one or both as soon as they are made available.

Samantha Batt Arkwrights, Harlow

Cllr, take heed of these three words

SIR, I write to reply to the rather nasty attack on our MP by Mike Danvers (Letters, September 15) which I find rather rich coming from a Labour councillor. Is this the same Mike Danvers who, as leader of the council in the late 1990s.

proposed building a sports centre on the Town Park and then has the cheek to represent the very ward which contains

Then in 2008 he wrote to the Star to complain about the date of the fireworks display not being November 5 when he had been part of the administration that fixed the date, missing completely the point that if he'd got his way we would have a sports centre on the Showground and therefore nowhere to hold the display. Last year he complained about the time roadworks were taking. Yet during his time as council leader the authority turned down finance from Essen County Council to dual.

time roadworks were taking. Yet duri his time as council leader the authority turned down finance from Essex County Council to dual carriageway our main arterial roads, and actually planted little trees alongside them to make it more difficult to do so.

I seem to recall a number of letters on this page accusing our former MP, Bill Rammell, of doing and saying one thing here in Harlow and voting another way in the House of Commons.

The fact is a good MP – and I would include both our current and previous MPs in the main in that category – will often find themselves in that situation based on local events in their constituency. I remember Labour ministers backing hospital cuts yet campaigning to stop them in their own backyards before the last General Election.

So all I say to you, Mike, is three words – pot, kettle, black.

Clir Mark Gough (Conservative) Glebelands, Harlow

Pay a fair share

SIR, At the moment indirect taxes like VAT mean that the poorest people in our community pay a greater proportion of their income in tax than the wealthiest do.

And yet the one per cent who earn enough to pay the 50p tax rate are asking for it to be cut.

When the poorest people in society are suffering the worst effects of savage cuts in public spending, it is morally indefensible for the wealthiest one per cent to complain about paying their fair share.

I would like to hear how they propose to ensure that we have a fair tax system in the UK which ensures that we really are "all in this together".

Kathryn Taylor Ram Gorse, Harlow

Failure to care

SIR, I am extremely concerned about the current state of the care system in this area and the country as a whole. It is not only failing the elderly but those with illnesses and disabilities alike.

We should no longer tolerate a system which leaves many with no support and others with poor quality services. A survey by the National Autistic Society found that two-thirds of adults with autism do not have the support they need and as a result a third developed mental health problems. Recently, Andrew Dilnot released a report on how the system can be improved. As a supporter of the National Autistic Society, I would like to appeal to our local MP to bring this issue to Parliament and help make Mr Dilnot's suggestions a reality.

Without this, people will continue to be left to cope without the support

they desperately need.

Paul Eastlake Brook Lane Field, Harlow

Unofficial limit?

SIR, Further to John Curry's latest letter on the Gilden Way speed limit (Star, September 15), may I say that I always had my doubts about the legality of the road signs.

I'm not sure there was an official 40mph limit, as would be imposed by Harlow Council or Essex County Council, in the area where building is taking place.

There was a plethora of 40mph signs lying all over the grass verges as though they had been placed there by the builders unofficially.

Maybe someone could clear up this matter once and for all.

Michael Cox Hart Road, Old Harlow

No consultation SIR, Is there a black hole or a type of Bermuda Triangle out there into which public consultations are unfailingly drawn and never heard of again?

I only ask because I can recall a couple of cases this year when Harlow Council announced that because of public concern there would be public consultations on the following matters. Firstly, it was the vexed matter of the proposed annexation of the unofficial car park in Burnt Mill Lane for the exclusive use of Essex County Council staff at Goodman House. This proposal certainly caused a stir amongst the frequent users of this site and rightly so.

Secondly, a proposal to ban the use of bicycles in pedestrian areas such as the town centre, Bush Fair and The Stow.

As a representative of both the Cycle Harlow and Sort Valley CTC local cycling groups I might have expected an approach – or know someone who had – from Harlow Council for an opinion. So far, nothing.

Maybe the proposals have just crept quietly away. I do hope so.

Old Orchard, Harlow

A monthly column by Harlow MP Robert Halfon

Rip-off petrol prices are a real threat to the British economy

WHEREVER I go in Harlow the number one issue is the cost of petrol. Rip-off petrol prices are through the roof.

The Royal Automobile Club has proved it. Its figures show that average Harlow motorists are getting fleeced for £1,700 a year just to fill up the family car. This is one tenth of the average Harlow salary.

Yes, it is true that VAT was raised across the board to deal with Labour's debt mountain but this is because we now pay £120m every day in interest alone. That is the credit card bill we have to pay.

The Government has helped a little bit. They refused to implement Labour's planned 5p hike in fuel duty and cut taxes by 1p instead. But we need to go further. That is why I am campaigning hard with FairFuelUK to:

- 1) Scrap the 4p fuel duty increases which are planned for January and August 2012.
- 2) Pressure big energy firms to pass on cheaper oil to motorists.
- Set up a commission to look at radical ways of cutting fuel duty (e.g. foreign lorries should pay more to drive on our roads).

In the past year I have spoken in many debates in Parliament, become chairman of the All-Party Group for FairFuel, pushed a car up Whitehall in protest, presented a letter to 10 Downing Street and started an epetition for cheaper petrol.

I don't know if we will be successful or not but we must get this higher up the Government's agenda.

Fuel prices are hurting our economy. Three-quarters of all transport company failures are now blamed on the high cost of fuel. Five years ago when petrol was just 95p a litre, university experts said high petrol prices were causing unemployment. Since then fuel prices have surged to 135p. There are now 2.5m workers unemployed.

Cutting fuel duty now must be a priority, over and above the clamour to cut taxes for millionaires. Rip-off petrol prices are now so high they are a poverty trap, keeping people on benefits as jobseekers can't afford to travel and businesses are struggling to stay afloat.

And to those 'do-gooders' who say we shouldn't be using cars, I say live in the real world. The question is not whether can you afford to have a car but whether can you afford not to. That's why I urge everyone to sign our e-petition at our e-petition at http://epetitions.direct. gov.uk/petitions/347 and to share it with their friends on Facebook.

If we reach 100,000 signatures, this will help us to secure a debate in Parliament.

We must have cheaper petrol and diesel. Our top priority now must be scrapping the 4p fuel duty increases that are planned for January and August 2012.

Rape accused cleared of attacking nurse in woodland

A MAN accused of repeatedly raping a nurse in secluded woodland in Harlow has walked free from court after being cleared by a jury.

Donald Colella (21), formerly of Canons Gate, Harlow, was found not guilty of three charges of rape at Chelmsford Crown Court on Friday. The prosecution claimed Mr

The prosecution claimed Mr Colella, described as being twice the weight of his alleged victim, carried out the attack near Cherry Tree Lane on December 5 last year.

The nurse later told police she feared for her life during the assault.

The defendant was arrested after traces of his DNA were found under her fingernails.

But Mr Colella, who now lives in East Mersea, was acquitted of the charges after claiming the nurse had consented to going to the woods for sex when he had offered to walk her home.

Spending cuts leave Gretchen in the dark

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A HOMEOWNER is at loggerheads with Harlow Council after it refused to cut back three overgrown trees which she claims are blocking all the natural light from her house.

Dental nurse Gretchen Wild (33), of Ryecroft, Harlow, says she has run up huge electricity bills after being forced to keep her lights on throughout the day to break the gloom in the two-bedroom property.

But despite pleading with the council, which is responsible for the upkeep of the trees, to send out workmen to cut back the dense foliage, she has been told she will have to pay for the work herself.

"In the past the council has always come out every 18 months or so to keep the trees neat and tidy, but they've now let them get out of control," she told the Star

"I can be inside my house in broad daylight and it's like night time. It's costing me a fortune in electricity because I have to keep the lights on."

The council has also told her she must use its nominated contractors to perform the work, which could cost Ms Wild almost £200.

"I've complained time and time again to the council but they've just said they won't do it anymore," she added. "They're telling me that if I wanted to get it done myself I'll have to pay and get their permission first.

Celebration at start of Black History Month

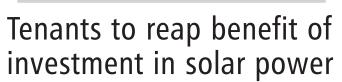

A CELEBRATION of Harlow's cultural diversity will take centre stage in the town's revamped Market Square next Saturday.

The event marks the start of Harlow Black History Month and will feature live music and dance performances, African drumming workshops, poetry readings, an art and craft exhibition, a fashion show and stalls selling traditional African food. Organised and funded by PATACC (Performing Arts in Traditional African and Caribbean Cultures), the annual celebration aims to promote community cohesion and respect between people of different backgrounds.

PATACC chairman Michael Koi-Larbi explained: "We want to make the event the premier cultural diversity celebratory event in Harlow and help contribute towards a community where people from different backgrounds feel they all belong and can come together to celebrate a shared sense of belonging."

He added "As a small organisation, PATACC is only able to host the festival and maintain its success due to the generous support of the local community."

THOUSANDS of council tenants in Harlow could soon see their electricity bills slashed by up to £190 a year after solar panels are installed on their homes.

The council-backed project, which is being funded and carried out by maintenance contractor Kier Harlow, will get under way later this month when work starts on fitting panels to one 'pilot' property.

The first phase of the scheme involving a total of 1,196 homes is scheduled for completion by next March, with two further phases of a similar size planned for the following year.

The installation and maintenance costs for the panels, which will also be fitted to the Latton Bush Centre, Leah Manning Centre and Mead Park depot, will be met by Kier, with no cost to tenants over the 25-year life of the pro-

Harlow Council will also receive "roof rent" by the firm, which will recoup its outlay through the Government's Feed-In Tariff scheme.

Kier Harlow operations director John Phillips said: "This is a really exciting project and it is the first fully funded scheme Kier has worked on.

"We plan to give each tenant a full briefing on the benefits of the solar panels and explain how they can maximise their efficiency."

Information packs are being sent to tenants explaining the benefits of the scheme, along with a request to book appointments for detailed surveys which will ensure properties are suitable.

Clive Souter, the council's portfolio holder for housing, said: "This project means residents get cheaper bills while we make big cuts in our carbon footprint.

"The important thing is that it has no cost to our tenants and minimal disruption as it takes just one day to install panels that will deliver cheap electricity for quarter of a century."

Everybody needs good neighbours

By VICKY LANE vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HERE may have only been 17 houses in Bushey Croft in the 1960s, but according to a newspaper poll they contained some of the friendliest people in Harlow.

The community-spirited bunch were always getting together to hold street parties and charity events - something which didn't go unnoticed.

"I think this photo was in a local newspaper at the time," said Sue Simons, who brought in this picture after it was discovered by her mother, Frances James, who still lives at the family home in Bushey Croft.

"We were all asked to gather together for the photographer after Bushey Croft was voted the friendliest area," said Sue. "They were always covering the various events that we had together so I suppose that is what they based their conclusion on.

Sue, who says she recognises most of the faces in the photo, is the little girl standing front right in the polka dot dress.

"I must have been about six at the time," she said. "My sister Christine, who is wearing the same dress as me, would have been about nine and my brother Alan, who is being carried off by my mother behind us, was about 18 months.

"I recognise a lot of the families - the Becketts, the Blackwells, the Kings and the Vandersteens. We were a close-knit community and all the kids would play together in the street."

Sue, who now lives in Sumners, said all of her family have remained in the area and have good memories of their time growing up in Bushey Croft.

"We had a lot of fun as kids," she said. "I remember we had a baker called Sid who would deliver his goods to the houses. From time to time he would round all the children up in his van and take us to the circus! We loved it.

"I also recall when my best friend Sue King's dad, who is behind me with the headband on in the photo, got the first new car in the street. It was a black Ford Popular and we were all very impressed." Sue added that she has always loved the photo of the neighbourhood group. "I thought it would be a nice surprise for all those still living in the area to see it again in the paper," she said.

DO YOU REMEMBER? School art class

ISN'T it funny how learning at school always seemed to be that bit more enjoyable when it involved making a mess? At least these young William Martin pupils enjoying an art class in the 1960s have managed to keep their creative efforts on the paper long enough to have a picture taken. "I think the photo was taken for a school board display so we were all on our best behaviour," explained Yvonne Rautenbach (nee Darvell).

"I am standing at the back of the shot and think I was pretending I didn't know the picture was being taken because I was always being told not to pose for photographs. It was my best non-posing pose!

"I remember always really liking the picture and when it came down I must have asked my teacher if I could have it. I was the most arty in the class which is why I suppose she agreed!"

Yvonne, who recently moved back to Harlow after some years living near Cambridge, says she remembers all the children in the picture. "I have always been told I have a good memory and can remember everyone," she said. "In particular I remember the boy standing next to me – Kevin Riddles – who went on to be a rock star of Angel Witch fame. He lived down my road and I remember absolutely adoring him as a little Shock news that a public inquiry is to be held into the controversial Gilden Way development left Harlow Council reeling. They will now face an expensive battle to gain planning permission for the 1,100 new homes designed to help ease the town's housing crisis.

Labour furore over £4k cost of civic dinner

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

FURIOUS Labour councillors will boycott next month's civic dinner for the second year running after branding the event a "waste of taxpayers' money".

Harlow Council has spent around £4,000 on next month's black tie bash at the Civic Centre, which will see up to 90 guests enjoying a three-course dinner with wine.

Invitations have been sent to mayors and council leaders from neighbouring authorities as well as local dignitaries, Harlow councillors and senior council officers.

But the Labour opposition on Harlow Council has decided to boycott the event, branding it a "Tory jolly" the authority could ill afford in the wake of its recent decision to offload seven of the town's most popular services in a bid to slash costs.

Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson said: "There is no way this can be justified in the current climate. It's absolutely disgraceful that that the administration is quite happy to splash out £4,000 wining and dining fellow Tories while some of the town's most cherished services are being sold off to save money.

"I'm sure they'll claim that this jolly is a way of promoting the town's interests, but if they're so keen to do that why not use the money to put on a town show instead and involve residents as well as their Tory chums?"

Fellow Labour councillor Edna Stevens added: "Government cuts are biting hard and at a time when the council is giving away well-loved services such as Pets' Corner and the Museum, Harlow people are going to find it hard to understand how so much money can be spent on food and wine for councillors.

"The Tory mantra of we are all in this together hardly rings true."

But council leader Andrew Johnson said the dinner would be paid for out of chairman Mike Garnett's £11,950 annual budget and insisted it would help to raise the profile of the town

"The council has the one of the smallest budgets for a chairman in Essex and does not have a car and driver like a number of other authorities," said ClIr Johnson.

The shopping complex has teamed up with students at Harlow College and top retailers including River Island, Next, JD Sports and Dorothy Perkins for the event, which will showcase the stores' autumn/winter collections as well as some of the students' own creations.

Street Pastor patrols helping to curb anti-social behaviour

A CHRISTIAN support group offering assistance to latenight revellers has helped to reduce levels of anti-social behaviour in Harlow town centre during its first year of operation.

Working in partnership with police, the Street Pastors team provided practical help and advice to the hundreds of people visiting the town's bars and clubs on Friday and Saturday nights.

In their first year of patrols they engaged in conversations or prayer with 130 people, helped 105 get home safely and administered first aid assistance to 62. They also handed out 96

They also handed out 96 pairs of flip flops and 22 'space' blankets and cleaned up 400 bottles and 137 glasses from streets in the town centre.

Sergeant Chris Gould, of Essex Police, said their efforts had helped slash the number of incidents of anti-social behaviour in the town centre on Friday and Saturday nights by 17 per cent

"We fully support the pastors in their mission and I and my officers thank them for their continued efforts," he added.

Owen Jenkins, area coordinator for the Street Pastors, said:: "I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who has been involved over the past year. We could not have achieved what we have without their time, fellowship and tireless commitment."

Ex-marine Dan's marching orders

By VICKY LANE vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A FORMER marine is preparing to tackle a 26-mile speed march wearing full combat uniform to raise money for a charity which supports former and serving members.

Dan O'Mahoney (31), who lives in Harlow, will be part of a squad of 100 former Royal Marines taking part in the annual Commando 999 Speedmarch marathon over Remembrance

The event is being organised by the Commando 999, dedicated to former Royal Marine Commandos who currently serve or have served with any of the UK armed forces, to raise money for the Royal Marines Association.

Dan, who now works as a civil servant with the Home Office, said: "My first serious career was as a Royal Marine so I decided to go back to my roots this year to help raise money for serving and former marines and their families.

"In particular it is about ensuring the guys coming back from Afghanistan as amputees or quadriplegics and their families, or the families of those who don't come back, have the support they need at home."

The Speedmarch, which requires a combination of running and marching, will follow a route around the main sights of London with a stop at Downing Street halfway for a meeting with Home Secretary Theresa May and the head of the Royal Navy Admiral Mark Stanhope.

At the end of the march the squad will wear their green berets for a march to the Royal Marines National Memorial where they will lay a wreath.

Dan is quietly confident about the challenge.

before so I know it will be tough but I am confident we'll complete it," he said.

"The hardest thing will be keeping up the pace in sequence with the other runners as part of the Speedmarch. We are only meeting each other on the day so won't have had any practice.

'I am excited to get on with it now though and know it will all be worth it. There are a lot of guys who put their life on the line to protect us so the least we can do is give them and their families some support back."

"Here in Harlow, Place2Be is currently based in seven schools and supports 1,300 children, some of whom are in desperate need of help," said fundraising manager Olivia Cumo.

"The money raised by anyone willing to take part in our Place at the Table fundraiser will ensure even more children are listened to so that their anxieties can be addressed earlier on." For more details on how to host your own event, visit www.aplaceatthetable.

Keep an eye on blood pressure

HEALTH experts were out and about in Harlow last week to raise awareness about heart and stroke matters.

To tie in with the Blood Pressure Association's Know Your Numbers Week, the East of England Service and members of the Essex Cardiac Stroke Network spent a day checking blood pressure numbers.

The group also offered advice on strokes including the symptoms of a transient ischaemic attack (TIA) brief episode of reduced blood flow to the brain which can be an important warning sign of future strokes.

"As an emergency service we are often called out to patients who are suffering stroke symptoms so we wanted to go into communities to educate people about it in more detail," explained the ambulance service's stroke lead Dan Phillips.

"A TIA is basically a stroke waiting to happen so if people address factors such as blood pressure, smoking, high cholesterol and enjoy a healthy lifestyle, the risks can be greatly reduced.'

Whiskers LLP secures Law Society's new quality mark

Local Solicitors Whiskers LLP has secured membership to the Law Society's Conveyancing Quality Scheme - the mark of excellence for the home buying process.

Whiskers LLP underwent rigorous assessment by the Law Society in order to secure CQS status, which marks the firm out as meeting high standards in the residential conveyancing process.

Law Society President John Wotton said that the Law Society introduced CQS to promote high standards in the home buying process.

"Buying a home is one of the largest purchases anyone will make in their lifetime, so it is essential that it is done to the highest standard by a solicitor. There are many different conveyancing service providers out there, making it difficult for home buyers to identify those which can ensure a safe and efficient level of service."

Partners John Roberts and Gerry Smith said:

"Whiskers LLP is delighted to have secured CQS status. It is recognition of the high standards we provide to our residential property clients and is a signal to future home buyers of the excellent service level we provide at what is often a stressful time for many people"

AN environmental charity has opened a third shop in Harlow to cope with the demand for recycled goods.

The Environmental Conservation Co-operative (ECCO) collects unwanted textiles, electrical items and furniture throughout Harlow and Epping to sell on.

The recycling scheme has proved so popular it has been able to expand to a new store at 2 Little Walk. Harlow MP Robert Halfon was invited to perform the opening ceremony on Friday.

"Shoppers are increasingly looking for better value for money and that's exactly what they get from us," said chief executive Sean Folan. "We provide the best quality items at the lowest prices we can, "It's all about reusing and not

ECCO are also re-launching their kerbside collection scheme in conjunction with the new shop after taking the service over from Harlow Council.

General manager Julie

Quinlin explained: "We used to run the scheme in partnership with the council but they lost their funding recently so we had to take over. It is similar to how it was before except residents will need to apply the ECCO stickers that come through the door to their bags of goods before leaving them out on recycling days.

Julie added: "We really hope that residents will continue to support us and are reminding everyone that most items whether they are textiles, electronic items or batteries can be recycled."

Council speeds up service to housing register hopefuls

PEOPLE on Harlow's housing By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor waiting list are to be given the opportunity to apply for more homes from the council and housing association available property stock.
Harlow Council's housing service is switching its choice-based bidding cycle to a weekly rotation, which means those on the register will be able to apply for three properties a week rather than three a fortnight as at present.

The aim is to speed up the process and reduce the number of properties which stand empty when tenants move out and new ones move

Currently there are around 650 voids a year and the average length of time a property stands empty between tenancies is 28 days.

Housing managers are confident that speeding up the bidding cycle will reduce the number by a minimum of 10 per cent.

The first weekly bidding cycle will start on October 20 and applicants will have from Thursday until midnight on the following Monday to

They will normally hear within five working days whether they have been successful in their bids.

Councillor Clive Souter, portfolio holder for housing, said: "We are in business to get Harlow people on our waiting lists the home they want with the least possible delay. I hope this new weekly bidding cycle will help us to do just that.

"Many of us now use the internet to look for a new home and using the Harlow Homefinder website - www. harlowhome finder.co.uk — is a cost-efficient way for the council to work. "In addition, if we can cut down the number of days a void property is left empty a year that is going to be another cash saving?

Harlow has 10,000 council properties and there are currently 4,000 families on the town's housing regis-almost £200 for an international children's charity when they held a fun day at the Harvey centre branch in Harlow Town Centre.

STAFF at travel agent Thomas Cook raised

Saturday's activities included face-painting, party games, a cake sale and a raffle with prizes donated by local shops and businesses.

Youngsters were invited to guess the number of sweets in a jar and everyone left with their own goody bag full of sweet treats.

Proceeds from the day will go to the Thomas Cook Children's Charity and used to help make dreams come true for sick and disadvantaged children across the world.

Sales consultant Faye Harmel said: "It was a great day and everyone had lots of fun. It's fantastic that we're now able to donate this money to such a worthy cause."

Great value Travel Offer!

Website launch set to raise theatre's profile

By Chris Moss

THEATREGOERS can now go online to keep up to date with forthcoming shows and events at Old Harlow's Victoria Hall Theatre following the launch of its new website.

The Bury Road venue was spared an untimely curtain call earlier this year after a group set up to save it from closure struck a deal with Essex County Council to buy the historic building for £100,000.

Since then the theatre has been relaunched by new owners Victoria Hall Performing Arts Association and has staged a raft of successful shows produced by local amateur dramatic groups.

The launch of the new website—which features a calendar of upcoming shows, news, reviews and previews — heralds in an exciting new season of drama at the venue, kicking off this week with Harlow Theatre Company's ribtickling production of Richard

Harris' Outside Edge (see what's on for details).

The programme continues with Sawbridgeworth Players' adaptation of suburban spy thriller Pack Of Lies in November before this year's dazzling Christmas show Alice In Wonderland, written and directed by Harlow Theatre Company stalwarts Paul Johnson and Keith Mardell, opens in December. Martin Colton, who designed the website, said: "We hope the new site will bring new faces to the theatre and give existing theatregoers up-to-date, easy to access information for shows and events

"We also hope that local businesses will contact us to advertise on the site, bringing in much-needed revenue to keep the building running smoothly and allowing us to carry on with the renovation work we have already started."

Information on upcoming shows can also be found on the theatre's new Facebook and Twitter pages. Harlow Theatre Company committee member Jim Thompson added: "I'm really impressed with the new site. It now makes it easier to see what's going on at the place. "It's a terrific venue and audience members often say how much they prefer the place to the West End. Hopefully even more people will enjoy what it has to offer now they can find it on the internet!"

To see more of what the theatre has to offer in the run-up to Christmas, log on to the website at www.victoriahalltheatre.co.uk.

Mills exhibition sets new record at town gallery

MORE than 1,600 arts lovers have already visited the John Mills sculpture exhibition at the Gibberd Gallery, making it the most popular show yet to be staged there.

The retrospective, which opened in June this year, features more than 120 sculptures, sketches and pieces of preparatory work covering the London-born artist's career from 1949 to the present

Best known for his 23-ton sculpture The Women of World War II in London's Whitehall, Mills is a former member of the Harlow Art Trust and has two sculptures – Buster Keaton and Chinese Dynamic – in the town.

Councillor Joel Charles, portfolio holder for community and citizenship, said the exhibition was a feather in Harlow's cap.

"Getting John Mills to stage his retrospective in Harlow was a real coup and I'm glad that so many people have enjoyed coming to the Gibberd Gallery to see this free exhibition," he said.

"With its existing sculpture trail across the town, Harlow has firmly established itself on the national arts map. The arrival of the John Mills exhibition underlines that growing reputation."

The Mills retrospective has been supported by a series of talks by the artist to discuss his life and work. The last of those talks takes place at the Gibberd Gallery tonight (Thursday) and admission is free.

Flawed fight flick fails to deliver the final KO

WARRIOR certificate 12A, 2h19m

TWO brothers go to war against each other in Gavin O'Connor's brutal story of redemption and self-loathing.

Bone-crunching skirmishes become a vibrant backdrop to the potential reconciliation of the estranged siblings, one battling for his country and the other for his family.

Warrior puts these two male archetypes – the valiant soldier and the selfless father — in the fighting ring and witnesses the emotional fallout as the protagonists deal with their tortured pasts in the present day.

Marine Tommy Conlon (Tom Hardy)

arrives home unexpectedly after 14 years of service, surprising his father Paddy (Nick Nolte), who has turned to religion to help him beat the bottle. Tommy asks his old man to train him for Sparta, a televised mixed martial arts fighting competition with the biggest purse in the sport's history. Paddy agrees, desperate to rebuild bridges.

However, the former marine isn't interested in playing happy families and Tommy chooses to fight under his mother's maiden name of Riordan to conceal the connection.

Meanwhile, Paddy's other son Brendan (Joel Edgerton) is struggling to make ends meet as a schoolteacher. The bank is threatening to take away his home so Brendan secretly fights in the backrooms of bars for money, keeping it a secret from his wife Tess (Jennifer Morrison).

Once the school learns of Brendan's extra-curricular activities the headmaster suspends him and the teacher's entire future rests on winning Sparta, putting him on a collision course with his hulking sibling.

Warrior talks tough and flexes its muscles impressively in the bruising fight sequences, but the script punches well below its class.

Characterisation is featherweight and Hardy and Edgerton, who have both bulked up for the roles, aren't given the material to deliver knockout performances. Nolte bares his soul in his few scenes and Morrison is similarly short-changed.

There is a clear narrative bias towards one of the brothers, making the bonecrunching histrionics of the final bouts a foregone conclusion before anyone has stepped into the ring.

Consequently, there is no dramatic tension and when screenwriters O'Connor, Anthony Tambakis and Cliff Dorfman do orchestrate one big reveal it turns out to be completely redundant, having no impact whatsoever on the fates of the central

The second reveal provides unintentional hilarity when the media unearths the truth at a critical juncture. Running time is excessive - the four editors should have thrown in the towel at least 20 minutes earlier.

Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy Control (John Hurt), the chief of a 1970s British secret intelligence service unit known as the Circus, learns that his Russian counterpart has placed a mole within the ranks. He turns to trusted protege George Smiley (Gary Oldman) to uncover the traitor among the other Circus members - Percy Alleline (Toby Jones), Roy Bland (Ciaran Hinds), Toby Esterhase (David Dencik) and Bill Haydon (Colin Firth).

Comedy starring sarah Jessica parker as Kate Reddy, a finance executive who is the breadwinner for her husband and two kids.

ge Up Overworked lawyer Dave Lockwood (Jason Bateman) accidentally switches bodies with his best friend Mitch (Ryan Reynolds) leading to a series of wildly complex difficulties.

Friends With Benefits While trying to avoid the clichés of Hollywood romantic comedies, friends Dylan (Justin Timberlake) and Jamie (Mila Kunis) soon discover that adding the act of sex to their friendship inevitably leads to complications.

vie As Will (Simon Bird), Neil (Blake Harrison), Jay (James Buckley) and Simon (Joe Thomas) wave goodbye to Rudge Park Comprehensive, they decide they need a proper lads' holiday in Crete to reinvent themselves.

The Smurfs 2D When the evil wizard Gargamel chases the tiny blue Smurfs out of their village, they tumble through a portal joining their magical world to ours. They end up in New York from where they must find their way home.

Mr Popper's Penguins The life of businessman Tom Popper (Jim Carrey) is changed after he inherits six penguins.

REVIEW

I was very pleased with the way my wife and I were treated by Kings right from the off. All the staff were polite and respectful and kept us informed all the way through the process. I was also given the names of a coveyencing solicitor and a removal co. (Premier Property Lawyers and Karma) both were equally impressive, and kept the the whole selling, buying and moving processes as smooth as possible.

Skipper set to miss Premier clash

RYE House Rockets skipper Chris Neath will miss this Saturday's Premier League clash with high-flying Sheffield after suffering serious concussion in a motorcross accident.

Neath, who has scored consistently for the Rockets throughout the season, was unable to take his place in the side for last weekend's matches against Berwick and Plymouth on a doctor's advice following the nasty tumble on Friday.

"Chris regularly rides a motorcross bike on land near his home with friends to keep fit and landed on his head after a crash," Rockets promoter Len Silver said. "He was knocked out and the doctor signed him off for a couple of weeks. He's still suffering bad headaches. "There's never a good time to get injured but at least we're not chasing the title. We've got five more home matches, and just one away at Workington which we weren't expecting to win anyway. The boys are good enough to cover for him so I'll be using rider replacement until he returns"

Boxall, pictured right, has struggled for speed this season but put his mechanical problems firmly behind him with five faultless rides.

That was despite the aftereffects of a nasty crash when Jesper Kristiansen lifted slightly and brought him down on the second bend in the first staging of Heat 10.

Boxall soldiered through the re-run and a further win in Heat 14, but opted out of the nomi-

With Harlow's Luke Bowen and Jordan Frampton also racing into double figures, and the rest of the Rockets solid in support, this match was very much one-way traffic.

Devils relied heavily on their number one Ben Barker The Cornishman was on the wrong end of an emphatic 5-1 from Boxall and Bowen in Heat 5 one of five maximums and nine heat advantages that the Rockets dished out – but was otherwise undefeated.

He twice featured in thrilling duels with Jordan Frampton. The first, in Heat 11, saw the lead exchanged several times over the first two laps before Barker pulled clear.

The second – even closer – saw Barker stalk his opponent for the duration of the race before using tremendous track craft to sneak past Frampton at the chequered flag.

Ricky Wells and Jesper Kristiansen added to Barker's four race wins, but their inconsistency, plus a very long tail, ensured that Rockets had the victory sewn up long before they mathematically made sure of things in Heat 10.

A delighted Boxall said: "It was really good today. I've had both been really good.

"They still need a few adjustments, but hopefully I can turn my season around over the last few matches. I'm very confident that I can.

Riding Deborah Gudgeon's 11-year-old gelding Monterey MM, he was awarded 68.97 per cent on his round.

This strong score secured the class for Crowe and the charismatic British-bred horse finished ahead of 21 other national finalists.

Crowe said: "I'm thrilled to win. He's a sharp horse and has been especially sharp since he's been here. In the test though, he really had his mind on the job and was very obedient."

Crowe comes from a showjumping back-ground, but his attention is now also focused on dressage.

"I love the dressage and have been doing it for a fair while," he said.

"Monterey is athletic, has a lot to offer and my trainer Anna Ross-Davies has been brilliant helping me to bring him to this level."

Records fall at Harlow Park run

BURNT Mill School pupil Perry Rowan claimed a memorable record when he competed in the combined U-15/U-17 category at the Harlow Town Park races.

The 14-year-old won the 3.8km race in 12 minutes and 43 seconds, around 40 seconds quicker than GB athlete Andrew Osagie managed back in 2004!

Osagie has since gone on to represent Great Britain in the 800m at the World Athletic Championships in South Korea last month.

Saturday's event also saw three records broken.

Mark Hall School student Canaan Soloman (12) won the U-13 boys 2.85km race in 9:36, smashing the previous record of 10:13.

On Sunday, the Gardner sisters recorded six personal bests (PBs) and five wins at a meeting in Watford.

Competing in the U-7 category, Isobel Gardner (6) claimed three PBs when she won the 60m in 10.8s, 400m (1 min 32.9s) and the long jump (2.55m).

Katie Woodstock (10) earned a silver and PB (3.32m) in the long jump (3.32m) in the U-11 girls. She was also second behind Molly in the U-11 girls 600m in 2:08.6.

They will first be in action in a gala at the leisurezone centre in Harlow on October 8.

Narrow defeat for hockey side

HARLOW Hockey Club men's first team warmed up for their first division four south east game of the East Men's Hockey League season with a 2-1 defeat at Southend. Harlow will host Old de Ferrians Leventhorpe School Sawbridgeworth this Saturday.

Southend are one step above Harlow in the East League and they scored either side of a Joe Symonds goal at King Edmund's School in Rochford in last Saturday's friendly.

Harlow II drew 2-2 at Southend II at the same venue as the first team. John Gould was one of Harlow's goalscorers. Harlow II open their division 6SE programme at home to Crostyx III this Saturday.

Great North debut

FOUR Harlow Running Club members ran their debut half marathon at the world's biggest half marathon, the Great North Run at Newcastle.

Will Shoults finished in 7,703rd place out of 54,000 runners in a superb 1 hr, 52 mins and 14 secs.

He was followed home by Samantha Patten (22,877th) in 2:18.19, Sian Cunningham (27,285th) in 2:27.51 and Robert Harrison (35,536th) in 3:04.25.

Soccer starlets turn out for Canaries camp from the newly-launched Norwich City FC Player Development Centre (PDC) in Harlow are set to visit Carrow Road next month.

The Canaries are in the process of getting a PDC set up at Passmores School in Tracyes Road and also a satellite centre at Paringdon Sports Club.

Ex-Brighton boss Jeff Wood, now the goalkeeping coach at Norwich City, is helping to set the scheme up.

The trip to Norwich for the young footballers will take place on October 24 during the school half-term.

Wood, a former first team coach at Harlow Town FC, told the Star: "We will take a bus from Harlow to Norwich and make a day of it. They will get the chance to see the Norwich City first team squad train.

"We will have three teams from Harlow go up. We could take two U-12 teams up and an U-9 team up to play Norwich City Academy

He added: "We will hope to take U-15 and U-16 teams up before Christmas."

FLYING HIGH: Coaches and players at the Nowiich City Player Development Centre launch on Wood was not present at the initial trials for Norwich's centre in Harlow as he was with the Canaries for their Premier League game at Bolton Wanderers.

However, he was thrilled at the response which saw 160 boys aftend the trials at Paringdon Sports Club last Saturday.

Six coaches were there to run the sessions.

He said: "The response was greater than we expected. We need four weeks to put the squads together because we have so many youngsters.

"Everybody will get a fully qualified UEFA A coach, whatever course they are on." Wood added that the Norwich scheme includes a coach education programme. This will enable aspiring coaches to go for FA Level One and Level Two badges.

Rams' try factor combination!

THE Rams will aim to maintain Wanstead 3, Harlow 5 their excellent defensive record and unbeaten status when they host Stowmarket this Saturday.

Harlow have yet to concede a try this

They resoundingly beat East London 12 days ago when their opponents left completely pointless.

And the Elizabeth Way side came from 3-0 down to win at Wanstead last Saturday.

The only blemishes for Harlow were injuries to number eight Kain Claridge (shoulder) and influential scrum-half Rhys Powell (head) during the second half.
Playing downhill, Wanstead had the wind in their favour in the first half.

The hosts went ahead after five minutes when they slotted a penalty over from just inside the Harlow half.

RFU London & SE, division three north east

Although the home pack were dominant in the set scrums, Harlow held their own and centre Simon Vanbeck and wing Will Grimley both came close to scoring.

Shortly before the break, Harlow almost scored when a driving maul from their forwards saw them power over the home line. However, the referee decided that the ball was held up and no try was awarded.

Harlow's senior coach Lee Harron said: We created three or four opportunities in the first half and made the right decisions but that last pass did not just go to hand."

In the second half, Harlow had better control in the scrums but were unable to dominate territory to the same extent as they had in the first period. Rams' pressure eventually paid dividends though an unconverted try on 62 minutes.

Vanbeck passed to Rob Mackie who kicked ahead before a home wing's bungled clearance resulted in the ball going over the home line. Mackie won the race to touch Wanstead attacked with great determination in the final quarter but stubborn defending and first time tackling by Harlow preserved their lead.

Harron added: "We took our try well and we defended well. We have been working hard on it in training and people have a belief in each other."

HARLOW: Mackie, Kotze, L. Bowering, Vanbeck, Grimley, Smith, Powell (Banks 78), Roze, Mallia, Stonehouse, Twiner, Eynon, Roberts, M. Bowering, Claridge (Crafton 53). Sub not used: Cunningham.

room for complacency No

LEE Harron has urged his Harlow side not to be complacent as they approach their home game against Stowmarket this Saturday.

The Rams have won both their matches in London division three north east this term and have a great chance to make it three wins from three games.

Harlow are one of just three sides in the league to have won both games.

However, Harlow's senior coach, right, said: "It's early days. We do not know much about Stowmarket, who have come up into this league.

'We have to get the attitude right and not get complacent. We want to get off on the front foot and have a good start." Harron will not be getting ahead of himself.

He knows his side will have to earn the right to play and he has a few selection issues to sort

Scrum-half Rhys Powell sustained a head injury in the win at Wanstead and Harron does not think he will be available.

Powell (33), who can also play in the centre, has played at a much higher level with the likes of Blackheath and Ebbw

He has a shrewd rugby brain and an eye for an opening.

Harron said: "He will be a big loss." Harlow's senior coach has not vet made a decision as to who will fill in at scrum-half if Powell is not available.

However, he was more relaxed about the cover for number eight Kain Claridge, who sustained a shoulder injury at Wanstead.

"We have Darren Hawkins who is back available and there is also Josh Drake who has played in the first team before," said Harron. Regular fly-half Michael Dobson was unavailable at Wanstead and Danny Smith filled the number 10 shirt capa-

Harron has not made decision yet as to whom will play fly-half against Stowmarket.

Keeper pleased to be playing again

BERTRAND Bossu, pictured right, is pleased to be playing football again after he joined the Hawks at the end of last month.

The former Aberdeen keeper played his first game in the 1-0 win at Brentwood Town and has now notched up five games, conceding just four goals.

With his great height - he is a towering 6ft 7ins - and confident handling, he has been a reassuring presence between the sticks.

His ability to pick out crosses stifles many opponents' attacks. Frenchman Bossu, who speaks a small bit of English, travels over from his home on the French coast. He told the Star: "I did not play last season. I had a calf injury. I am feeling good and I am enjoying

He feels Harlow can do well, but must cut out the silly errors that they made against Great Wakering Rovers and Enfield Town (a 1-1

"There is no reason why we cannot be up there," he said.

"We need to improve. They [Great Wakering] had a couple of half chances which they should not have had.

"It was disappointing in the previous game [conceding a late equaliser against Enfield]."

Bossu replaced Adam Rafis in goal and is likely to play in Saturday's match at Waltham Forest.

Cruse in control

STORT Valley's Gary Cruse edged out 61 fishermen from across the London area and beyond to win the London Anglers' Association Canal Benevolent Trophy on the Hertfordshire stretch of the Grand Union Canal.

The Harlow club was well represented but it was Cruse who lifted the prestigious trophy with a magnificent winning weight of 24lbs 4ozs 8 drams. Another Stort Valley rod, Steve Beehan, took third place overall with 15lbs 10ozs, while yet another SVAS team member, Steve Turnbull, won his section with a good bag of 14lbs 9ozs.

Former Stort mem-ber Mick Burrell won the club's recent outing to Staines in Middlesex to fish a stretch of the River Thames.

It turned out to be a difficult day out for many. Those of many. Those of the eighteen present, who troubled the scalesmen, weighed in a total of 52lbs 10ozs with Burrell's winning weight of 10lbs 6ozs.

Steve Turnbull con-tinued his good form and was the first club member on the sheet with 7lbs 8ozs.

Mick Westby and Danny Cruse were second and third respectively, weighing in with 4lbs 14ozs and 4lbs 1207S was a comfortable enough home win over lowly Great Wakering Rovers, but the Hawks should have enjoyed a far greater margin of victory.

Wakering were left chasing shadows as Harlow Town went 3-0 up in the first half, but the hosts should have gone on to hammer their Essex rivals on Saturday.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "It's good to score three goals in a game, but if you look at the chances we had we could have scored five or six."

Chapman brought Tom Bruno into the midfield and Jon Docker was dropped to the bench.

Early action saw Wakering's
Nathan Fletcher booked for a foul on Hawks winger Luke Marshall shortly before Harlow went ahead in the seventh minute.

Rhys Henry was released and he looked as though he was fouled outside the box by visitors' keeper Louis Goodwin-Green.

However, after consulting his assistant, referee Adrian Oldershaw awarded a penalty before booking Goodwin-Green.

Mark Taylor converted the penalty. The dominant Hawks scored twice more on 23 and 25 minutes to go 3-0 up.

Chapman said: "The first penalty was outside the box. We kept the ball really well in the first half but when you score three early goals you can take your foot off the pedal."

Henry should have done better with early second-half chances, having a shot tipped away by Goodwin-Green before nodding Harlow were unable to replicate their first-half zest and Hawks keeper Bertrand Bossu denied Bradley Nobbs in a one-on-one on 81 minutes.

On 86 minutes, Wakering scored consolation through a Jack Carlile penalty.

This was awarded after Marshall fouled substitute Michael Pinndy. Chapman added: "The second half was a bit disappointing. I think [the ref] tried to even things out for their penalty.

"Rhys Henry had a fantastic chance and if that had gone in I think we would have scored a few

GB ace says Osagie can reach Olympic final athletics

CRAIG Winrow believes Harlow's ace middledistance runner Andrew Osagie can take that extra step and make the men's 800m final at the London Olympic Games next year.

Winrow, who is Osagie's personal coach and ran for Great Britain at the 1996 Olympic Games in Atlanta, has observed the steady progress of Osagie over the last year.

Osagie (23), from Northbrooks, has been hampered by injuries, but has put in solid performances.

He gained selection for the Great Britain team at the World Championships in Daegu, South Korea last month.

He reached the semi-finals of the 800m at this event and narrowly missed out on a spot in the of training behind him and keeps up the progress, I am hopeful he can get to the Olympic final [next year]. He competed well in the World Championships. He did nothing wrong in the semi-final – a couple of guys were better than

"He has run 1:45.00 this year and it would have been nice to have seen him run a 1:44 this year. He was in a B race in Italy the other week and ran 1:45.3, but could have done 1:44 if he had been in the A race."

He added: "He's more than capable of doing that and if you do that you are nearing the top guys in the world.

"He's coming out more confident. He's start-Winrow said: "Providing he gets a full winter ing to believe he is a world class athlete. He has got stronger and I think he has moved quite a bit forward this year." Winrow would like Osagie to experience more races at different distances, but the Harlow Athletic Club ace has been unable to do so.

He has had to concentrate on training and running in 800m races as his time has been restricted by injuries.

However, Osagie chalked up a notable first when he ran his first road mile at the Great City Games in Newcastle last weekend. The Harlow athlete came third in 4 minutes,

.53 seconds. "It was a different race and his first run on the road. I said 'go out and enjoy it'. He came through it," said Winrow. "It was good for him and also a bit of fun. He was not in spikes and was in running shoes."

Hawks on title march

Chapman's men climb to second in table

DANNY Chapman is confident By DAVID RIMMER his Harlow Town team can lay down an important marker in the Ryman division one north title race by winning their next two matches.

Harlow Town, who moved up to second after Saturday's 3-1 home win over Great Wakering Rovers, visit fourth-placed Waltham Forest this weekend, before they make the trip to mid-table Tilbury next Tuesday.

Victory in these two matches would mean the Hawks will have picked up 17 points from a possible 21.

It would also show the rest of the division they mean business and are title contenders.

The Harlow boss said: "These are two big games. It's well within our reach to so [win both games]. We need to apply ourselves properly.
"As long as we do that I have every david.rimmer@hertsessexnews.co.uk confidence in us getting six points. That sets down a marker. It sets a stall out to everybody.'

He added: "We have played a game more [than other teams], but I would rather have points on the board."

Chapman equates his side's current form to that needed to finish in the play-offs – but is well aware of the side's nightmare run last season from November to January, which ended with Kevin Warren resigning as manager. Former assistant boss Chapman then took charge and led the team into the play-offs.

He added: "We want to do better than that [the play-offs] and win as many games as we can."

Chapman does not expect easy game against Waltham on a difficult pitch at Ilford FC, or at Tilbury.

"Waltham Forest have had a fantastic start. They will be strong and fit and we will have to be on our game. I will be happy if I come out with a 1-0 win," he

"Tilbury never give up and are full on you for 90 minutes. They have signed players in the summer who are decent players."

Škipper Danny Brown (foot injury) and defender Lamar Lemonius (ankle injury) are doubtful for these matches.

However, midfielder Cormac Hegarty (broken finger) and forward James Peagram (virus) may be available. The striker was due to play for Harlow reserves against Cheshunt reserves in the Capital League last night (Wednesday).

"He needs a game to make sure he gets it [the effect of the virus] out of his system," said Chapman.

Harlow's boss expects number two keeper Michael Dumoulin to be back. "He hurt his finger in training last week. He looks like he should be available,"
